I'm paying on someone's behalf, how will you use my data?	If you are paying for the insurance, the customer will be asked to provide us your name, postal and email address, payment, or bank account details, to perform the financial transactions. We will validate any banking information we receive. Whilst the responsibility will remain with the customer, we will send you communications confirming changes to payments, so you are also aware. You can request we remove your payment information. This will not include sensitive personal data.	Entering and performance of contract. Legitimate Interest – preventing and detecting fraud.

Sensitive Personal Data and Conviction Data

We ask you to provide information which the law classifies as sensitive personal data for example health information. We can also infer sensitive personal data specifically your ethnicity from residency and identity documents.

We'll also ask you to provide information relating to criminal convictions or alleged or actual criminal offences. Our capture of this information is limited, and we restrict how it can be used in our activities.

Where we collect sensitive personal data or criminal conviction data, we process this data because it's in the substantial public interest to do so for the purposes of arranging and/or advising on contracts of insurance, claim handling and prevention and detection of unlawful acts relating to fraud.

We have a policy and standard to govern the use of sensitive personal data or criminal conviction data in our activities. This information can be shared externally in limited circumstances as it relates to the activities in this notice.

Children

We are not a provider of services to children and as such we do not need to directly capture their information, we may have to capture incidental information if it is relevant to a claim. We treat data relating to children the same as sensitive personal data. We'll discuss this with the parent or guardian of the child to ensure that everyone understands how that information will be used and shared.

Safeguarding our activities

We consider risks that are associated with our activities to determine appropriate and proportionate privacy and security safeguards or measures. We consider the state of our technology and user experience to determine what measures should be implemented.

Examples of safeguards includes:

- Following privacy by design and default principles

- Using only personal data in activities where it is necessary
- Undertaking risk assessments, audits, and reviews of our activities
- Aggregating, minimising, pseudonymising or anonymising data to reduce personal data
- Policies, procedures, and standards that govern the use of data
- Using privacy enhancing technology and using default privacy controls
- Having a detailed technical security framework which includes access limitation, encryption, and prevention against cyber attacks
- Having a Data Protection Officer to hold us to account for our activities

Changes to our activities

Our activities will not change often but where a new activity is identified or a change to this notice is needed, we will publish the changes and will make you aware only where the activity is not something you would reasonably expect.

1st CENTRAL Connect

If you purchase our 1st CENTRAL Connect (telematics) product there are some differences in how we collect and process the personal data as the product works differently from standard insurance. You contractually agree to install a sensor in your vehicle and download a mobile application in order that we and our partner, Cambridge Mobile Telematics ("CMT") can collect data and monitor how you are driving. You and any drivers are asked to give consent to the mobile application for the capture of the data from the sensor.

We are the Controller for our use of the data in respect of the insurance, CMT will be our processor. This processing is necessary for them to provide to us the driving scores and behaviour monitoring that we use for managing your insurance. There is shared data collected where CMT will determine the processing and act as a Controller, specifically in enhancing and improving the crash detection capabilities. Information about their usage of the data is available in the mobile application.

The technology is designed to capture:

- how, when and where your car is driven,
- device and sensor information at the time of capture,
- information related to your driving behaviours such as:
    - speeding,
    - phone use,
    - hard braking,
    - hard cornering,
    - hard acceleration.

An occurrence of a specific driving behaviour when scored for each trip is called an event. For a trip, each event is assigned a risk assessment score. The overall score is a weighted combination of these. It is this personal data that will impact our automated decisions on how to price your insurance.

The data we capture can also be used when an event occurs, such as an accident. We will use this data to:

- intervene in the incident,
- progress the claim,
- or to act on your insurance if you're driving behaviour falls below our accepted threshold.

Please note that collection of the data captured, and actions take after are not an emergency service, and we are not an emergency service provider. This will not replace contacting the emergency services.

We will use the mobile application and emails to notify you. You can control the notifications within your device settings.

We cannot guarantee the accuracy of the technology and the data, we keep this under regular review and work to a statical accuracy threshold. We update the technology when it is required. Where we use the data to make decisions about your insurance, we will interrogate this data to reduce errors and improve the technology.

Our data use to prevent and detect fraud is the same but we will use the personal data to identity any misuse or tampering of the technology.

Data will still start being collected the moment the sensor and application are linked. When you stop using the product it can take up to 72 hours for the technology to stop recording. The data we capture will be retained and used in our product development and innovation activities.

The technology can distinguish between you and other drivers through the mobile application however there may be occasions when we cannot confirm who was driving. You will be able to see in your application how each driver is performing.

It is important that you and all other product users understand:

- the sharing of this data in the application is the default setting,
- we can make all trip data available to the policyholder,
- you can manage the accessibility of this information within the mobile application.

We will consider any external sharing of this personal data with law enforcement or other third parties on a case-by-case basis.

How will we share your information?

The sharing of personal data is a necessary part of us being able to provide services and protect our customers. We make a commitment to you that we'll never sell your data or share your information without a clear reason to do so. This could include sharing data in our legitimate interest. All sharing of data is assessed within data protection impact assessments.

If you need further information about a provider, we've detailed how to contact them in accordance with their notices and procedures.

Credit Reference Agencies

We'll perform credit and identity checks on you with a credit reference agency ("CRAs") such as Experian and TransUnion. When you take insurance services from us, we may also make periodic searches at the CRAs to manage your account. A record of those checks will be held by the CRA. On your credit file you'll be able to see those searches by a footprint labelled 'insurance search'. This footprint can only be seen by you and us and won't affect your credit score.

We supply your personal data to CRAs, and they'll give us information about you. This will include information from your application and about your financial situation and financial history. CRAs will supply to us both public (including information on the electoral register) and privately shared credit, financial and fraud prevention information.

We'll use this information to:

- Assess whether you can afford to purchase the product
- Verify the accuracy of the data you have provided to us
- Prevent criminal activity, fraud, and money laundering
- Manage your account(s)
- Trace and recover debts
- Ensure any offers provided to you are appropriate to your circumstances

We'll continue to exchange information about you with CRAs while you have a relationship with us. We'll also inform the CRAs about your settled accounts.

We use CRAs to ensure the validity of the banking information we're provided. This service checks the details with the bank to ensure that the account is valid, will highlight data errors and will confirm that an account isn't linked to closed or fraudulent accounts.

If you're paying by direct debit, we may give details of your accounts and how you manage them to the CRA, including records of outstanding debt. This information may be supplied to other organisations to perform similar checks, to trace your whereabouts and recover debts that you owe. This footprint can be seen by others and may impact your credit score.

If you tell us that you have a spouse or financial associate, we'll link your records together, so you should make sure you discuss this with them, and share with them this information, before lodging the application. CRAs will also link your records together and these links will remain on your and their files until you or your partner successfully file for a disassociation with the CRAs to break that link.

The identities of the CRA, their role also as fraud prevention agencies, the data they hold, the ways in which they use and share personal information, data retention periods and your data protection rights with the CRAs are explained in more detail at www.experian.co.uk/crain and https://www.transunion.co.uk/legal/privacy-centre. We do not use marketing services provided by the CRAs.

To learn more about what information Experian holds about you or to request a copy of their full notice you can contact them at: Experian Limited, Consumer Help Services, PO BOX 8000, Nottingham, NG80 7WF www.experian.co.uk

To learn more about what information TransUnion holds about you or to request a copy of their full notice you can contact them at: TransUnion Information Group, One Park Lane, Leeds, West Yorkshire LS3 1EP www.transunion.co.uk

Insurance Industry Databases

We will pass your personal data to the following insurance databases:

- Claims and Underwriting Exchange ("CUE")
- Motor Insurance Anti-Fraud and Theft Register ("MIAFTR")
- Motor Insurance Database ("MID")

We are obligated under the under legislation such as the Road Traffic Act to provide information. All the databases are operated by the Motor Insurance Bureau. Every insurer must be a member and follow membership rules to maintain their access to these databases.

The personal data passed to these databases will include your name, date of birth, vehicle registration, policy number and the date of any accident and related circumstances. This information is passed in a secure, encrypted feed to ensure they're regularly kept up to date.

The data stored on these databases may be used by certain government organisations including the police, the DVLA, the DVLNI, the Insurance Fraud Bureau and other Insurance organisations allowed by law for the purposes of:

I. electronic licensing
II. continuous insurance enforcement
III. law enforcement (prevention, detection and catching or prosecuting offenders)
IV. providing government services or other services aimed at reducing the level and incidence of uninsured driving.

If you're involved in a road-traffic accident (either in the UK, the European Economic Area or certain other territories), the insurer, the Motor Insurer Bureau ("MIB") or someone making a claim (including their appointed representatives) may search the MID to get relevant information. It's vital that the MID holds your correct registration number. If it's incorrectly shown on the MID, you're at risk of having your vehicle seized by the police. You may check your correct registration number details are shown on the MID at www.askmid.com. Insurers have up to seven days to give the MID your details.

We're responsible for ensuring the accuracy and security of the personal data we provide to these databases; however, we have no responsibility for the databases themselves and information provided by other organisations. If you'd like to know what information these databases hold about you, you can contact them by completing a subject access form available at: https://www.mib.org.uk/managing-insurance-data/mib-managed-services/cue-miaftr/

Please indicate in your request which database you are enquiring about and what information you require.

Financial Transactions

To process financial transactions, we need to share financial information such as your payment or bank account information and transaction details to our payment providers and supporting technology providers. If you'd like to know more about them:

Bottomline: https://www.bottomline.com/uk/privacy-policy
Verifone: https://www.verifone.com/en/us/legal

Payment Standards
We're Payment Card Industry – Data Security Standard compliant. This is externally assessed. This means we have in place appropriate measures to manage and protect your payment card information. Our records contain the last 4 digits, the name on the card and the expiry date. When we need to use the card to make a payment, we ensure the gateway is encrypted at every stage.

We use Semafone as our provider to ensure we comply with these standards. If you would like to know more about them: https://semafone.com/gb/privacy/.

DVLA/DVLA(NI)

We utilise the MyLicense service from the DVLA. If you choose to provide us your driver license number, we'll ask the DVLA to automatically provide details of your driving entitlements, the length of time you've held a driving licence, and valid motoring convictions. This information will be used in our insurance risk assessment of driving behaviour and premium. The information won't be accessible by our Colleagues and isn't printed on policy documents.

If you choose not to provide this, we ask you to self-declare the information instead. We'll repeat the call out and collection of this information when you're due for renewal to ensure we hold the most up to date information.

The information the DVLA provides us is subject to a set of standards and rules that we must comply with in addition to data protection legislation.

You can find out more about the information they hold at www.mylicence.org.uk.

Fraud Prevention Databases

We're committed to ensuring we help to reduce fraud in the insurance market. Protecting our genuine customers and our business is critical and therefore we'll share data with law enforcement, government, banks, other insurers, and fraud databases where necessary to achieve this aim.

We complete our fraud activities in our legitimate interest for meeting regulatory requirements such as knowing our customer and anti-money laundering provisions as well as in our and your interests of detecting or preventing unlawful acts reducing insurance fraud more generally.

When we respond to a request for insurance or if there's a claim, or when you renew a policy, we'll repeat these activities to ensure our records remain up to date and we can make informed decisions.

Due to the nature of our purpose for processing we are unable to share detailed information with you about all our activities. This is so we don't prejudice any current or future investigations.

Identity validation and application fraud
It's important we know who we're providing services to therefore we can request you confirm your identity. In addition, if we have any suspicions that a policy has been misrepresented, we'll request that you provide documentation to check the accuracy of the record.

We provide access to a secure portal that the documents can be uploaded to. These will be reviewed, and we'll let you know if there's any further action needed. The documents will be retained as part of the insurance record. Data inaccuracy can lead to additional premium and charges being payable.

Identity Fraud
We use technology to support us identifying individuals we suspect of being a victim of ID Fraud. In these cases, we'll contact the individual. We can then work with genuine customers or victims to ensure their insurance is valid or in accessing tools to protect their identity.

There's no one piece of information that tell us if someone has been the victim of fraud or is acting fraudulently, but we take a risk-based approach. This does mean that sometimes a genuine customer will be contacted. When this happens, we ensure the outcome is used to improve our approach.

Fraud prevention databases
The databases we utilise are joint controllers of the data. This is data that is collected from across the financial services industry. The personal data we share or receive can include your name, address, date of birth, contact details, financial information, employment details, vehicle details and device identifiers such as IP address.

It's important to understand that if you're considered to pose a fraud or money laundering risk or have been involved in fraudulent activity, the data they hold can be used by organisations to refuse services, financing or employment.

They work closely with law enforcement to prevent, detect, and investigate crime. They may transfer your personal data outside the European Economic Area for these purposes. In such cases this will be done in accordance with international transfer mechanisms and safeguards that the UK Government consider applicable.

We're unable to disclose what these databases hold about you, but you can contact them as follows:

Syndicated Intelligence for Risk Avoidance ("SIRA")
This is provided by Synectics Solutions. Synectics Solutions is a private fraud prevention agency which works with organisations in the fight against fraud. Those organisations include businesses from the finance sector, insurance sector and communications sector. We can't disclose to you any information we receive from this database. If you'd like to know what information they hold about you, you can contact them at:

SAR Department, Synectics Solutions Ltd, PO Box 3700, Stoke-on-Trent, ST6 9ET or DSAR@synetics-solutions.com
https://www.synectics-solutions.com/Portals/0/pdf/Subject%20Access%20Request%20Form%20V.3.3.pdf

Credit Industry Fraud Avoidance System ("CIFAS")
CIFAS is a not-for-profit fraud prevention membership organisation. They're the UK's leading fraud prevention service, managing the largest confirmed fraud database in the country. Their members are organisations from all sectors, sharing their data across those sectors to reduce instances of fraud and financial crime. They also assist us and our customers by offering protective registrations if they think they've become the victim of identity fraud. If you'd like to know what information they hold about you, you can contact them at:

CIFAS, 6th Floor, Lynton House, 7 - 12 Tavistock Square, London, WC1H 9LT www.cifas.org.uk
https://www.cifas.org.uk/contact-us/subject-access-request/subject-access-request-form

TransUnion ("Iovation")

Iovation is a provider of fraud prevention and account authentication services. Their services help us decide whether to accept transactions from electronic devices by analysing device attributes and checking whether they've been associated with fraudulent or abusive transactions in the past. The service also helps verify your identity by registering and remembering devices associated with your account. We'll share information with Iovation if we conclude that a device has been used in connection with a fraudulent or abusive transaction. Iovation track your activity over a network of different sites that subscribe to their services.

If you'd like to know more about how TransUnion process data please see www.iovation.com/privacy. If you want to access the information they hold about you, you can contact them at: privacy@iovation.com.

Lexis Nexis
Lexis is a provider of modules that support our fraud and insurance activities. We use their modules to enrich our data and to validate no claims discounts and provide additional policy insights.

If you'd like to know more about how Lexis will process the data please see www.risk.lexisnexis.co.uk/consumer-and-data-access-policies/insurance. If you want to know access the information they hold about you, you can contact them at DPO@lexisnexisrisk.com.

Product Partners

To provide the 1ST CENTRAL Product that's suitable for your needs we've formed relationships with a panel of trusted product partners. We'll provide your personal data to these product partners depending on what products you've brought.

You should check the policy wording for the products you have purchased to identify the details of the provider. The wordings contain the privacy notices of the provider who is the controller and will tell you how they process your information and how you can obtain access to the information they hold about you.

If you purchase the cover, we'll pass personal data for them to administrate their product, this includes your name, address, and contact information. This can include sensitive personal data.

Our product partners are all subject to contracts with us and we require that they only use your personal data for the purposes of providing their services. We also place obligations on them to ensure a comparable level of security for your personal data.

Servicing your claim

The purpose of insurance is to ensure you can access services in the event you have an accident. To do this, we utilise a panel of repairers, engineers, recovery, and salvage services to help you along the way.

Our providers are all subject to contracts with us and we require that they only use your personal data for the purposes of providing their services and have a comparable level of security for your personal data. When we discuss the steps of your claim with you, we'll tell you which provider has been instructed to help you and why.

We instruct suppliers to:

- Provide vehicle recovery from the roadside or home
- Inspect and assess the damage to your vehicle
- Engage repairers to fix your vehicle
- Provide vehicle salvaging when a vehicle is damaged beyond repair
- Provision courtesy or hire cars
- Ensure ownership of the vehicle is managed
- Support us during the weekend and in the evenings
- Manage a claim following an accident in a foreign country
- Provide technology which allows the deployment and billing of repairs and recovery

When a vehicle is deemed a total loss as it's beyond economic repair the vehicle can be passed to salvage agents. We do perform reasonable checks to clear the vehicle of personal items and information. We provide you their details so that you can arrange collection of these. We can't guarantee that your personal information such as details from your motoring documents like the V5, service or logbooks etc won't be passed on to new owners of the vehicle. We don't expect them to contact you, however this can occur if they require additional information or spare keys.

Courtesy Car
We use Enterprise Rent-a-Car as our provider. We'll send over a referral to them containing your name and contact details to enable them to arrange the vehicle for you. Enterprise capture information for their own purposes and are a controller of that personal data. We recommend that you review their privacy policy which can be found at https://privacy.ehi.com/en-gb/home.html.

Others
We may need to instruct other providers to help us such as specialist engineers or repairers on a case by case basis. If this needs to happen we'll let you know.

Legal Panel

Another part of the insurance services we provide to you is to put you in contact with Solicitors who can help you with any legal claims you may have. We also instruct Solicitors to help us defend claims where we're being pursued by other insurance companies following an accident.

Our legal panel is made up of several firms, each providing expertise in an area of law or in certain jurisdictions. Each member of our legal panel is regulated by the Solicitors Regulation Authority and has the same obligations we do under the data protection law.

Personal data will only be shared with our legal panel for the purposes of pursuing or defending legal claims. We'll let you know which firm is instructed. When they contact you, they'll expressly confirm we have instructed them. If you accept their services, they'll become a controller of your personal data.

They'll have their own privacy notice which they'll make available to you. If you receive telephone calls from any other law firm who we haven't advised you about, please let us know.

Reinsurance Panel

As an Insurer, we need to have insurance to cover the insurance we provide you. We do this through a reinsurance panel. The panel consists of many companies. You'll never be directly contacted by members of the reinsurance panel.

We've introduced privacy by default into our arrangements with the panel. This means that they'll never be provided your personal data unless there is a specific legal or regulatory reason to do so. If personal data does need to be passed to a panel member, the data will be minimised to what's necessary.

Debt Recovery

If you pay by direct debits and you fail to make payments, we'll appoint a debt-recovery agent to support us in collecting any outstanding balance. We understand you may not want us to share your information for this purpose, however we consider this this to be in our legitimate interest for recovery of the money payable under your insurance contract.

We'll only share sensitive personal data if you consider yourself a vulnerable customer to enable our agents to ensure you're treated appropriately.

Group Companies

Personal data may be shared between the companies in the First Central Group for the purposes of providing its services and business administration. You can find out more about the companies in our Group by visiting: www.firstcentralgroup.com.

Outsource Partners

We use companies to provide services as outsourcers, for example, we have a contact centre which is provided to us by an outsource partner. If a supplier is an outsourcer, they'll present themselves as 1ST CENTRAL.

We'll remain the controller of your personal data and they'll act as a processor on our behalf. Our outsource partners are all subject to contracts with us and we require that they only use your personal data for the purposes of providing the service and on our written instructions. We require them to ensure a comparable level of security for your personal data.

As they are processors, we have additional responsibilities to ensure that they're processing the personal data in accordance with the law, and we conduct regular due diligence and monitoring.

How will we communicate with you?

General service communication
As an online company, we predominantly communicate by email, however there may be occasions where we use SMS, telephone, or post. It's important we have up to date information for this purpose. These communications will be about your policy or claim. We'll communicate with you if we need you to act, to send payment reminders or to remind you about your renewal. All documents and formal communication are available in the customer portal.

Marketing
Our marketing communications are only sent to customers who have consented to receive these. These contain a link that'll enable you to unsubscribe at any time and you can also do this in your portal. Marketing promotes new products or promotions, offers rewards or competitions.

Telephone Calls
We record a sample of our telephone calls and a notice of this is given at the outset of a telephone call. If we contact you by telephone and there's no response, we can leave a voicemail, but we don't do this every time.

Cookies

There are two types of cookies we use, those that are strictly necessary or those that are for tracking or targeting. Strictly necessary cookies are those we need to make the website function, keep it secure and detect malicious activity. These cookies also give us functionality to remember you within any visit to our site. They help us tie together your web experience together as you move from page to page, remembering your inputs from the previous page. Strictly necessary cookies will automatically be enabled.

These can include: -

- Accelerated Mobile Pages ("AMP") - AMP allow for pages to load more quickly on a mobile device by allocating a Client ID to that device where the web page had been loaded before.
- Iovation – we use these cookies to prevent and detect devices associated with fraudulent or other malicious activity. JavaScript collects information about the attributes of your device, such as IP addresses, device type, browser type, screen resolution and operating system. This information is shared with Iovation Inc, for fraud prevention and account authentication purposes. For more information about Iovation, please see www.iovation.com.
- Egain - These cookies are used in our web chat service, it enables our handlers to see which pages you interacted with to better support your questions when using this service.

Tracking and Targeting cookies are those that provide further functionality to our website but will also enable us to monitor how our website is interreacted with and personalise the journey. These cookies can be session or persistent meaning they'll either expire when you leave the site or remain active for you to return to the site and recall any information you entered. This includes:

- Google and Adobe Analytics - these allow us to monitor how users interact with us. We use services provided by Google to do this including Google's Remarketing and Advertising Reporting Features. If you require further information or wish to opt out of Google Analytics Remarketing and Advertising Reporting Features, then please visit Google Opt Out
- SessionCam - this has been developed by SessionCam LTD. SessionCam will record mouse clicks, mouse movements and page scrolling. It captures the IP Address and Policy Reference only. The recordings are used to improve our website, detect functionality and security issues, and support us in concern and issue resolution
- Optimise media – Optimise help us with our digital marketing. The data collected by these cookies is anonymous
- Optimizely - uses persistent cookies to uniquely identify visitors, track and attribute their actions to experiments and personalisation campaigns, and deliver consistent experiences across sessions

You can choose to disable tracking and performance cookies in your browser. See our Cookies notice for more information. We are introducing an improved Cookie experience in the coming months at which point all historic cookie information will be deleted.

Security

Our customers are at the heart of the services we provide; therefore, the security of your personal data is very important to us. We've put in place organisational and technical measures to protect your information from unauthorised access, use and loss. We safeguard your privacy and will continually monitor our measures, updating our approach as new technology and industry best practice becomes available.

Site security
We ask you to set a unique and strong password to help us protect your information in the portal. This password is used to access your policy information and documents online. If you've forgotten your password or email address, you can retrieve them on the Account Recovery page.

To protect your information, we use the industry standard Secure Sockets Layer ("SSL") 128-bit encryption technology to ensure that all your personal and transactional information is encrypted before transmission. Depending on your browser you should see a closed lock or unbroken key in the bottom left-hand corner or in the URL bar to signify that SSL is active and you're in a secure area of our site.

We aren't responsible for the privacy policies and practices of other websites, even if you access them using links from our website and we recommend that you check the privacy policy of each site you visit.

Information Security Management

We are ISO270001 Information Security and Payment Card Industry Standard accredited. These external accreditations help demonstrate that we have in place adequate and appropriate security controls to protect the personal data we collect, process and store. We also operate a cyber security framework in accordance with industry practice to reduce the risk of cyber-attack.

International Transfers

The information we hold about you is encrypted during transfer and at rest. It's stored securely in private dedicated server environments within the UK and EEA. Some information is stored on servers outside of the UK and EEA.

If your information does need to be transferred or stored outside of the UK or EEA for us to perform our activities, we'll ensure that this is done securely and in compliance with the law.

We have put in place a standard which sets out our approved countries for transfer. These countries must have in place adequate frameworks and legal protections for our customers. We will use mechanisms such as the approved standard contract clauses or international data transfer agreements recommended by the authorities when performing these transfers.

If you would like to know more about international transfers, contact DPO@1st-central.com.

Wholly Automated Decision Making

To provide our services we make wholly automated decisions that will involve profiling. We evaluate certain personal aspects about you such as your economic situation, personal preferences, driving behaviour to make these decisions. We make these decisions as it's necessary to entering and performing the contract, to meet regulatory obligations and prevent and detect unlawful acts.

We do this to:

a) Determining insurance risk
b) Determining affordability
c) Detect and prevent unlawful acts – fraud

Where we conduct these activities, we're required to inform you of the type of information we collect or use in creating the profile or making the decision, why this information is relevant, what the likely impact is going to be/how it's likely to affect you.

Please be aware that this doesn't mean we're required to disclose our actual algorithms or intellectual property such as how the assessment prices our products but can provide meaningful logic to help you understand the decision-making process.

a) Determining insurance risk

The assessment for providing motor insurance is a determination and scoring of factors in two categories. Firstly, factors about an individual or individuals proposed to be driving the vehicle and secondly factors about the vehicle itself. Each insurance company has defined what risk profile they can insure and what factors they are looking for. This allows for us to provide products that can meet the needs of the customer. You provide us these factors when you obtain a quote from the price comparison website. This is a necessary assessment for entering the insurance contract.

The factors we collect and use to create a driver and vehicle assessment include:

- The date you and additional drivers passed their driver's test
- Yours and any additional drivers - driving history
- Yours and any additional drivers - claims history

- Occupation and use of the vehicle
- The type of vehicle being covered
- Modifications and safety
- The age of the vehicle
- The value of the vehicle
- The location of the vehicle during the day
- Storage of the vehicle overnight

For example, we ask you how long you have been driving, or how many accidents you've had in the last 5 years, from this we can draw inferences as to your driving experience. The less experience you have may mean you're a higher insurance risk. We'll ask you the price of the vehicle, where it'll be parked and how it'll be used as this can help us to consider security of the vehicle and the levels of cover needed to protect the use of it. Different makes and models of cars can vary in features or have modifications. If an older vehicle is damaged it can be harder to source the parts, newer vehicles may have more sophisticated technology requirements.

All the factors are scored and from this we can determine the cover level, the product, and our pricing. If the scoring profile goes outside our threshold then a consequence maybe that we can't offer you cover as we don't have a product to meet your needs. This doesn't mean that you won't be covered with another company, simply that we've determined the risk isn't suitable for us.

We only consider information relevant to the decision-making process for providing motor insurance. We don't ask for information that's unnecessary. For example, we don't need to know about accidents you had 20 years ago as this wouldn't help us understand your most recent driving experience.

b) Determining affordability

We're a consumer credit provider. This allow us to offer the ability to pay for insurance in monthly instalments. We're required by regulation to conduct affordability assessments for every applicant to offer this service.

We do this at the same time as determining the insurance risk to provide you a complete quote with payment options and repeat this assessment when changes happen midterm and at renewal. For this assessment we use personal data we receive from credit referencing agencies, specifically the credit score, judgements, and any defaults, along with your payment history to determine whether our financial product is suitable for you and your creditworthiness. If you have several defaulted accounts, we may not consider it responsible to accept a credit application therefore we'll offer a pay in full option only.

c) Detecting and preventing unlawful acts – Fraud

We do this at the same time as determining the insurance risk. Decisions at this point will be made using external sources of data. For details of those external sources please refer to the how we share your data – Fraud Prevention section of this notice. The decision made will also take into consider publicly available information issued by the government and by fraud prevention enforcement services.

We are unable to provide information about the rules and logic we apply to the detection and prevention of unlawful acts as to do so would prejudice the purpose of the activity.

Safeguarding our wholly automated decisions
We use recognised actuarial models that prevent errors, bias, and discrimination. We regularly analyse and monitor these models to check the quality of the decisions being made. This is closely monitored against the wider insurance market.

We recognise that inaccuracies of data can occur therefore we've put in place safeguards and processes to review the decision and to correct inaccurate data if identified. It important that you provide us an accurate representation of your needs.

As these are wholly automated decisions you have the right to request human intervention. We'll consider your point of view or challenge to the decision, however a right to request a review doesn't mean we're required to change our decision.

Third Parties
We use information obtained from third parties in these processes. They each provide certain data sets that validate, enrich, and support the data you've provided. The third parties are documented in this notice. Each of these third parties are Data Controllers. We aren't responsible for the accuracy of the data they hold and provide us. If you'd like to know what they hold about you can find out more by contacting them.

How long will we keep your information?

We'll retain your personal data for as long as is needed for us to perform our activities, meet our legal and regulatory obligations, defend, or pursue legal claims, in our legitimate interest or where fraud has been assessed.

We've agreed retention periods against our processing activities. Once that retention is met, we'll take steps to delete or anonymise the personal data.

There's information that could be retained indefinitely. This is very limited but would relate to lifelong claims, specific legal obligations, law enforcement or fraud activities.

Your Rights

The law provides you rights, these aren't all absolute rights and each request will be reviewed and responded to dependent on the circumstances. We'll of course do our best to help you where we can. When we receive a request, we may need to confirm your identity and ask for clarification of your request.

You can excise these rights directly to our Data Protection Officer by email at DPO@1stcentral.co.uk or in writing to our registered address.

The right of information

This right enables you to be informed about the collection and use of your personal data. We take a layered approach to providing this information. You were directed to review our basic privacy notice when you were purchasing your cover and we provided a shorter version in your policy wording. This document is our full notice.

The right of access

This is more commonly known as submitting a 'data subject access request'. This can be made in writing or by telephone. This right enables you to obtain confirmation that your personal data is being processed, to obtain access to it, and to obtain other supplementary information about how it's processed. We recommend that you review your customer portal, as much of the information we hold is available there 24/7.

We'll conduct reasonable and proportionate searches for information. There may be information that we can't disclose. If this is the case, we'll explain our decision and the lawful exemption we're relying on. We have 30 days to respond to your request. We can refuse to accept requests.

The right of rectification

If you see that any of the personal data, we hold about you is inaccurate, you can ask us to update it by contacting our Customer Services team. You can also update information directly in your customer portal at any time. We have 30 days to rectify the data.

The right of erasure

You have a right to be forgotten, but this will only apply in certain circumstances. If these circumstances aren't present, we'll take steps to record your request and ensure that at the correct time your information is erased, we'll cease any marketing. We'll also suppress your personal data in order that no further processing can occur using your information.

We often receive requests to have payment cards removed from our records. When you purchase a policy, you're made aware that your payment card will be retained for the life of the policy for several reasons. This means we can't delete the card. There are steps we can take to ensure the card can't be used for automatic payment.

The right to object to processing

You have the right to tell us to stop marketing to you and you can object to processing activities where we don't have a legitimate interest to conduct the activity. We've made it so you can manage your marketing preferences at any time in your customer portal without needing to contact us.

The right to restrict processing

You have the right to request restriction or suppression of your personal data. This isn't an absolute right and only applies in certain circumstance. For when to exercise this right, please visit the website of the Information Commissioner. We'll respond to any requests within 30 days.

The right of data portability

You can obtain a reusable copy of the information you provided us within your customer portal, this can then be used for your own purposes. We aim to provide the portable data within five days of your request, but we do have 30 days.

Rights relating to automated decision making

You have a right to request, that an automated decision with profiling which has a significant or legal effect, is reviewed. The most common reason you may make this request is if you believe the data, we've used is inaccurate. You can do this by contacting our Customer Service team who will investigate this matter for you. If they can't resolve your query, then we have 30 days to provide a formal response.

Concerns

If you're unhappy with how we've handled your personal data, you can raise concerns with our Customer Services team or the Data Protection Officer. Each concern will be investigated and responded to within 8 weeks. You can contact our Customer Services team on 0333 043 2066 or the Data Protection Officer by email at DPO@1stcentral.co.uk or in writing to Data Protection Officer, Capital House, 1-5 Perrymount Rd, Haywards Heath, RH16 3SY.

Following this, if you remain dissatisfied, you can escalate your concerns to the Information Commissioner's Office as the UK's independent body empowered to investigate information handling practices. You can visit www.ico.org.uk for more information about this.
